THE ATLANTIC CABLE.

Eight years ago, almost to a day, th Ils in church steeples were rung, rustyroated cannon belebed forth their under, and editoral rhetoric was proely indulged in over the announce gent of that mythical personage, Deuty, that it was "ALL BROUT." Bu fore the shouts of an exultant people ad fairly died but, De Santy faded int scurity, and the tremulous thread which er a brief and flitting moment connected the Old World with the New, if it did no part from its fastennings, like its successor and disapear in the measureless depths of the great see, because voicelon, and the Atlantic Telegraph was pronounced fallure. Since then Cyrus W. " Thank God, the Cable has been laid and is in perfect working order s fuller and more satifactory than the all right" of De Sauty. The first an uncement in this city of the arrival o the Great Eastern, reached here yeste day forenoon in a private dispatch to Col Stager, to which were annexed the tele grams of Mr. Field from Heart's Con tent. Details of the operations connected with the laving of the Cable, so far as gives, will be found in the reports to the Associated Press, to which the realing sublic will this morning turn with an inte est akin to that which prevailed when news of some of the great victories of our late war was flashed over the wires. No articulars of the expedition have been irnished before. News of its success and the detailed account of the voyage con ogether. The Great Eastern left Shee terminable Cable coiled in her hold, and
